Shutterstock Celebrates 20 Million High-Quality Stock Photos, Vectors & Illustrations

June 21, 2012 9:10 AM ET

NEW YORK, June 21, 2012 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ -- Shutterstock Images LLC, a global marketplace for digital imagery, today announced it has surpassed 20 million images in its collection. With more than 35,000 photographers, illustrators and videographers contributing content from 150 countries, this milestone reflects Shutterstock's position as a top provider of high-quality visual media for graphic designers, publishers, marketing and media organizations around the world.

"The caliber of the content we're receiving today is extraordinary, and with 20 million images, we truly have something for everyone," said Founder and CEO Jon Oringer. "It's incredibly exciting to watch something I started nine years ago cross such a monumental milestone," he added.

The 20-millionth image was a photograph submitted by Remy Musser - Netfalls of Athens, Greece. Musser has been a Shutterstock contributor since 2006, and currently has more than 60,000 photos and videos in the collection. "Shutterstock provides a great way for me to do what I love and earn an income by licensing my content to people all around the globe," said Musser. "I love being a part of this thriving creative community and I'm honored to be celebrating this milestone with Shutterstock," he added.
