

Shutterstock Promotes Peter Silvio to Chief Technology Officer

November 8, 2019

NEW YORK, Nov. 8, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Shutterstock, Inc. (NYSE: SSTK), a leading global technology company offering a creative platform for high-quality content, tools and services, today announced the promotion of Peter Silvio to Chief Technology Officer. In this role, Peter, who has been serving in a Head of Engineering capacity since March, will continue to lead the Technology organization, partnering closely with Product and Marketing to drive the development and implementation of innovative products that bring new value and an outstanding user experience to our customers and contributors. Additionally, Peter will be responsible for the Company's technical vision and enabling us to execute on our business objectives with speed and efficiency.

"Peter is an experienced technology leader, always striving to innovate and position the company for continued success. He has played an integral role in leading technical strategy, architecture and development, and over the last six months he has done a tremendous job leading the team. It gives me great pleasure to promote him to Chief Technology Officer," said Jon Oringer, Founder and CEO of Shutterstock.

Peter joined Shutterstock in 2017 as VP of Engineering and Architecture with over 20 years of experience. Peter was promoted to SVP, Head of Engineering & Architecture in May 2019. In this capacity, he assumed leadership of the engineering organization, driving key technology priorities and championing the global team as they worked to advance our platform and network strategy.

"Over the last two years, I have thoroughly enjoyed working with an exceptionally skilled team that strives to innovate and improve our product and technology everyday," said Peter. "I am excited for the opportunity to lead Shutterstock's global technology team in our mission to deliver the best experiences for our customers and contributors globally."

Peter's experience across 20 years includes architecting and building distributed service platforms, designing data architecture for internal applications, and defining API products to power future company solutions. Prior to joining Shutterstock, Peter was Head of Application Development and Architecture at Thomson Reuters.
